

Trade not aid: the role of social business in redefining the development & aid paradigm

Paul Hazen

Executive Director of the US Overseas Cooperative Development Council, will discuss:

The role of co-operatives in international and community development through income development, food security and democracy building

Hazen is a leader and advocate for the cooperative movement and cooperative businesses around the world. He currently serves on the boards of the International Co-operative Alliance, Consumer Federation of America and Cooperative Business International. He also chairs the United Nations International Year of Cooperatives steering committee.

Are you the leader of a social business, co-op, credit union, aid agency, charity or foundation with a global vision? Are you involved in strategy related to aid or development? Join us in a discussion and workshop about the role social business can play in addressing international development issues.

We look forward to welcoming you to this breakfast discussion and workshop

- Date: Tuesday 11th September 2012
- Time: 7.30am – 9.00am
- Venue: UNSW CBD Campus
Level 6, 1 O'Connell Street,
Sydney NSW 2000
- Cost: $50 Pay via credit card now to secure your place
- Catering: Breakfast will be served
- RSVP: Wednesday 5th September to Esther Lefas
Email: e.lefas@unsw.edu.au
Please advise of any dietary requirements.